COURSE DESCRIPTION

Operations management (OM) is the science and art of creating and delivering goods and services to customers. Basic topics in operations management include project management, process management, quality management, demand forecasting, supply chain management, inventory management, revenue management and queueing analysis. These days this field of study is subjected to changes and challenges. Maintaining sustainable environment while efficiently converting resources into safe and quality outputs, increasing profitability while providing safe workplace and honouring stakeholder commitments are a few to mention. This course will provide an overview of the aforementioned topics.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completing this course, the students will be able to

- Develop a solid understanding of the role of operations management in manufacturing and service organizations
- Identify the connections between operations management and the other parts of the organization
- Apply analytical methods such as forecasting, production planning, inventory control, quality control, and reliability to solve real-world problems

Communication and Feedback

Students who wish to correspond with instructors or TAs directly via email must send messages that originate from their official McMaster University email account. This protects the confidentiality and sensitivity of information as well as confirms the identity of the student. Emails regarding course issues should NOT be sent to the Area Administrative Assistants. Instructors are required to provide evaluation feedback for at least 10% of the final grade to students prior to Week #9 in the term.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

You are expected to exhibit honesty and use ethical behaviour in all aspects of the learning process.

Academic credentials you earn are rooted in principles of honesty and academic integrity.

Academic dishonesty is to knowingly act or fail to act in a way that results or could result in unearned academic credit or advantage. This behaviour can result in serious consequences, e.g. the grade of zero on an assignment, loss of credit with a notation on the transcript (notation reads: “Grade of F assigned for academic dishonesty”), and/or suspension or expulsion from the university.

It is your responsibility to understand what constitutes academic dishonesty. For information on the various types of academic dishonesty please refer to the Academic Integrity Policy, located at www.mcmaster.ca/academicintegrity.

The following illustrates only three forms of academic dishonesty:

1. Plagiarism, e.g. the submission of work that is not one’s own or for which other credit has been obtained.
2. Improper collaboration in group work.
3. Copying or using unauthorized aids in tests and examinations.

REQUESTING RELIEF FOR MISSED ACADEMIC WORK

Students may request relief from the regularly scheduled midterm, test, assignment or other course components. Please refer to the policy and procedure on the DeGroote website at the link below;

<http://ug.degroote.mcmaster.ca/forms-and-resources/misled-course-work-policy/>

Note: If a student is relieved from writing the midterm for a valid reason, his/her final exam may be cumulative (unlike the rest of the class)!

STUDENT ACCESSIBILITY SERVICES

Student Accessibility Services (SAS) offers various support services for students with disabilities.

Students are required to inform SAS of accommodation needs for course work at the outset of term.

Students who require academic accommodation must contact Student Accessibility Services (SAS) to make arrangements with a Program Coordinator. Academic accommodations must be arranged for each term of study. Student Accessibility Services can be contacted by phone 905-525-9140 ext. 28652 or e-mail sas@mcmaster.ca

For further information, consult McMaster University's Policy for Academic Accommodation of Students with Disabilities;

POTENTIAL MODIFICATIONS TO THE COURSE

The instructor and university reserve the right to modify elements of the course during the term. The university may change the dates and deadlines for any or all courses in extreme circumstances. If either type of modification becomes necessary, reasonable notice and communication with the students will be given with explanation and the opportunity to comment on changes. It is the responsibility of the student to check their McMaster email and course websites weekly during the term and to note any changes.

DETAILS FOR ONLINE COMPONENT

In this course we will be using avenue to Learn. Students should be aware that, when they access the electronic components of this course, private information such as first and last names, user names for the McMaster e-mail accounts, and program affiliation may become apparent to all other students in the same course. The available information is dependent on the technology used. Continuation in this course will be deemed consent to this disclosure. If you have any questions or concerns about such disclosure please discuss this with the course instructor.
